MOSCOW, Russia - "Hasidic Cappella" Jewish Choir of the Marina

Rosha Synagogue under the direction of Alexander Tsaluk opens the 3rd season of benefit concerts early in September. Founded in 1990 the Choir performs up to 40 concerts annually in religious communities, Heseds, culture centers throughout Russia and gives subscription concerts in Moscow's Music Conservatory or in Chaikovsky Hall. Aimed to recreate and popularize Jewish cantor music, the choir also performs original songs and some classic creations like those of Schubert, Mozart, Brahms, and Chaikovsky. The choir is comprised of 16 singers, 3 solo singers.
